Best Cinematography:

Marx Vamerlatti received the award for best cinematography at the festival, the director of photography from Ararangua is part of the team of directors and professors at the Companhia Boanova de Cinema Regional in projects by Estética da Sopa de Pedra and works with major producers in Brazil, he was recently director of photography of the unpublished feature films Achados Não Procura directed by Fabiana Heilmann Penna and Porto Príncipe by Maria Emília Azevedo.

It is the second prize for best cinematography won by Marx for his work in Albertina (2020), the first was awarded on July 19 at the World International Film Awards in Los Angeles.

Best Child Actress in a feature film and best first-time actress

The Best Child Actress Award was given to nine-year-old Suieny Espíndola, a resident of Imaruí, who starred in the feature's role as Albertina in the first phase of the film. Her fourteen-year-old sister Jhulieny Espíndola starred in the role of Albertina in Stage Two, Jhulieny received the award for best first-time actress. The two sisters who had never acted were prepared by the Companhia Boanova de Cinema Regional team from the beginning of the popular film course until the moment of casting, preparation of actors and recordings. Imaruí and Santa Catarina must be very proud of these two girls devoted to Albertina, dear, intelligent, educated and very dedicated, during the popular film course they proved to be great actresses!

Suieny and Jhulieny were featured at the Cannes World Film Festival and are carving their names in the history of cinema in Santa Catarina with their international awards for best actresses achieved for their work in Albertina. By July 19, each had already shone and won the award for best actress in Los Angeles at the World International Cinema Awards.
